WEINSTEIN AND UMP

Jeff Weinstein, candidate for councilor-at-large of the Portland City Council, has issued the following statement about UMP.

The role of the University of Maine in the Portland area is of great concern to me. UMP is now, and will continue to be, important to the local business and industrial community. The variety of CED courses and the Management Training Program have the wholehearted support of this candidate.

The Portland City Council has a responsibility to the people of this city to work for additional support by the state legislature. As a member of the Council, I will take the lead in community support of the University, for UMP can play a vital role in the growth of Portland and Southern Maine by offering more educational opportunities for young people and in attracting new industry to Maine.

PRESIDENT'S FILM

Through the efforts of our Campus Mayor, Judy DeRocher, we will be able to see the film of President Kennedy's visit to the University of Maine at Orono. As you may remember, the late President came to Orono for Homecoming about a month before he was assassinated. Check the Calendar for the times and dates the film will be shown.

CENTENNIAL PLANS ANYONE?

Seeing as a hundred years has passed since the founding of our University, there will be a Centennial Celebration this winter. If you have any ideas or suggestions for UMP's part in this occasion, please contact Miss Fernald or Gary Curtis.

CHATTER with T

Last Saturday night's Beatnik Ball was considered just about the best dance so far this year. Congratulations to Circle K for doing such a great job.

Come on freshmen, let's show the school that this year's freshman class is the best ever. As you already know, we're holding a semi-formal at the Eastland December 23. It's one of the few formals held here and should be one of the biggest social events of the year. Charlie Cragin is looking for people to sell tickets, and this is a chance for some of you multitudes of freshmen to do something for your class.

TUESDAY DISCUSSION

The mind is a wonderful thing. An absurdly basic statement, but one which Dr. Bonney illustrated beautifully at the Tuesday lecture on hypnosis. One factor that seemed to be surprising to most was that hypnosis is primarily self-induced. This might be, but everyone looked a trifle nervous when Dr. Bonney went into the techniques of hypnosis.

Quite a lively discussion this week since attendance was improved. For those who missed it, shake off a little dew you wet birds, and fly in for the next one.

Last Friday evening at the Woodford's Club, I had the opportunity to hear an after-dinner speech by Orono's baseball coach, Jack Butterfield. He spoke about last summer's college world series and also showed the film taken. One particular point that I thought worth remembering was his feeling that the State of Maine produced athletes who were easy to handle and willing to work. This is essential to a winning ball team and when players no longer care to "put out", then it's time for them to hit the scrap-pile. Naturally, coaches have to handle players correctly and individually so that this spirit isn't lost or destroyed.

The basketball team is currently working out in the existing gymnasium. While I wasn't particularly impressed with the team, I must say that certain scoring potential lies in the forward wall. H. Moulton and B. Francouer look to be sure starters at this point. Francouer is big, strong, and knows how to handle the pivot. Moulton, UMP's top scorer, must put the ball through the hoop as his defensive ability leaves much to be desired. R. Bowie and K. Weatherbie are the top contenders for the other forward position. Bowie's moves inside are tremendous this year while Weatherbie is the better shotter from around the foul line. Sturgeon is trying to skirt this problem by moving Weatherbie into a guard position which will never work because of the latter's obvious inability to play make, dribble with either hand, or fast break. J. Newman and B. Bourque look like a good pair of guards, conceding Newman can't go full time which places the problem into the hands of the reserves.

Look for Freshmen Bailey, Strout, and Pemberton to become better as they get more confidence. None have let loose so far, possibly because they haven't gotten used to college ball yet. D. Emerson is either red hot or very cold. He hasn't shown any consistency, but if you catch him on a hot night, look out. Otherwise, pack your bags, it's all over. T. Trufant definitely needs more playing experience to gain the confidence that he lacks.

Thus, you have a very early preview of the team. It should be an interesting year spotlighted by J. Derocher's band opening night is scheduled for Dec. 1 away and Dec. 3 at home.

N.B. FLABBY FEMALES

Are troubled with breathing problems when wearing last year's skirts? Do you run up the first flight of stairs to psyche, walk up the second and crawl up the third? Are you short of breath after the long trek to the car? Well, sit up and take notice! (if it's not too much of an effort).

At Judy Derocher's suggestion, AWS is sponsoring a meeting Wednesday at 4 to discuss how we can put our out-of-shape shapes back in shape, by bouncing the ole basketball around a bit. You know you hate to diet, and here's an easier way to rid yourself of the proverbial excess poundage. Since we can only use the gym only at night, AWS would like to know which night would be best for all. So if you can d-r-a-g- your self to the meeting AWS would appreciate it.

ANYONE FOR THE YEARBOOK STAFF?

The yearbook staff will hold a meeting at 4p.m. Nov. 18 in room 205 East Hall. All persons interested in the yearbook are urged to come. If unable to attend, but you are interested in helping, please get in touch with Frank Tordoff or Margo Thornton.

Individual pictures for the yearbook will start to be scheduled right after Thanksgiving and will probably be taken right up to Christmas.

Also, any students interested in a hootenanny, make plans for Nov. 20 at the Bridgton Town Hall at 8 p.m.

MY DOG LOUIE

For you students who may have wondered what the clandestine thumpings and high-pitched murmurings are that emanate from behind the closed doors of the conference room from 5-7 at night, well, that is your student council, doing things for you. One of the things they did last week was wonder. They wondered why UMP's proposed gym was 16th on the priority list for the capital improvement program. So they sent a letter to Pres. Elliot, asking him just what this means, and putting the student body at his disposal "to institute and carry out whatever programs seem necessary and proper to insure the success of the university's capital improvement program in the state Legislature." By the time the next issue of the Umpus, Pres. Elliot's reply should have arrived, so tune in again next issue.

SUPPORT THE DANCE

Other business - the student council is bringing back the juke box to the cafeteria - but - as soon as it shows a deficit, it goes back to the limbo from whence it came. If students want a juke box, it's to be there for more than to look at. It's your duty to UMP to play records.

A student council member has been hearing complaints about East Hall - no pencil sharpeners or coat hangers, for instance. News of this drastic situation shall be relayed with utmost speed to the proper channels.

As for the club constitutions to be approved... All the ever-loving club constitutions were read aloud, one by one, at the longish meeting. The Literary Guild's constitution did not gain approval because the tenets of the club have been found, in the past, to be economically unsound. Approved were: Young Demos, AWS, Cheerleaders, Businessman's Fraternity, and Spanish Club. Circle K's constitution will be heard next meeting.

Never mind the title..

Persons interested in obtaining information on the various programs may contact members of the team at the display located in the hallway outside the Cafeteria.

In various other spots in this particular issue of the UMPus, the upcoming freshman class semi-formal has been mentioned. True the holiday fling is five weeks away and it may seem early to be making plans but we urge you to start making your plans now.

The frosh have ordered 200 tickets printed for the dance. Surely 200 couples will show up. Orono students and other college students are invited to come along and join our fun, but let's make sure UMP is there too. Let's not be holders back; let's put forth a shiny picture of UMP by being at our dance in strength.

With the excitement caused by Christmas vacation and the added excitement caused by a semi-formal, it should be quite an evening. So do your best to be there at 8:30, Dec. 23 at the Eastland.
